THE DAWN OF PEACE

All the World is Atflame Today with the Prospect of Peace. Germany has Taken the First Step which makes World-wide Peace Possible--She has Designated The Neutral Nations, She is Willing to Entrust With the Great Task--The United States is First

COTTON SKYROCKETS ON PEACE PROPOSALS

Cotton Advanced Three Dollars and a Half Per Bale Today on the Receipt of the Peace Proposals—Stock Market Is Wildly Excited—War Stock Took a Very Sudden Drop.

New York, Dec. 12.—Cotton advanced $3.50 per bale here this morning upon receipt of the news of peace proposals by Germany. The stock market became very wild and excited. All war stocks dropped precipitately when the news was flashed. Bethlehem Steel dropped 26 points in the twinkling of an eye and was still going down when the market closed.

J. G. SMITH HURT.

John G. Smith of this city was badly injured last Saturday afternoon about six miles from town when he undertook to stop a runaway team hitched to one of his wagons. In some manner Mr. Smith was thrown on the tongue, carried some distance in this manner until his team crashed into a tree in the road. He suffered a broken shoulder and internal injuries. He was attended by a physician as soon as possible and is resting nicely today.

Berlin, Dec. 12.—The German government today announced that Germany and her allies, Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria, have decided to enter forthwith into peace negotiations.

Chancellor Von Bethmann Hollweg received representatives of the United States, Spain and Switzerland, which countries have been protecting German interests in hostile foreign countries, and gave them a note and asked them to give it to the entente governments. The note, which was read later in the Reichstag by the chancellor, stated that it was the purpose of the central powers to enter forthwith into negotiations which they believe will be appropriate for the establishment of lasting peace. The governments of Berlin, Vienna, Constantinople and Sofia transmitted identical notes to the Vatican and all other neutral powers.

President Wilson made no comment on receipt of the news of peace proposals. It is believed here that the peace offer at this time was made with the expectation of making terms acceptable to England's allies, who might bring pressure that would cause her to stop fighting. The recent death of Emperor Francis Joseph and the succession of Emperor Charles also was thought to be a possible factor.

Germany Replies to U. S. Note.

Berlin, Dec. 12.—Germany's reply to the American note protesting against the deportation of Belgians declares there was urgent need of work for the Belgians, whose idleness was causing demoralization, and contends they are assured of faring well in Germany, saying the German government believes the United States had been misinformed.

The reply volunteers to let American diplomatic representatives visit the workmen's camps and assure themselves that the Belgians are well off. It concludes with an expression of regret that the United States has never seen fit to protest against what it describes as the dragging off of Germans from East Prussia, Alsace and other places to Siberia and elsewhere, and other such actions by the allies which it says are severe violations of the laws of humanity.

"The situation was serious, but with God's help our troops shaped conditions so as to give us security more complete than ever. We are stronger than ever and our safety is beyond question."

Chancellor Von Bethmann Hollweg, in addressing the Reichstag, said the peace proposals had for their object the guarantee of the existence, or the honor and of the liberty and of the evolution of the four allied central powers.

London Gets the News.

London, Dec. 12.—A wireless dispatch from Berlin says that Chancellor Von Bethmann Hollweg announced in the Reichstag today that Germany, together with her allies, "conscious of their responsibility before God, before their own nation and before humanity," has proposed peace negotiations.

Germany Would Restore.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Advices from Berlin to the Germany embassy today indicate Germany will propose the complete restoration of the captured portions of France and Belgium in return for Germany's colonies, the maintenance of newly established kingdoms of Poland and Lithuania, and the disposal of the Balkan situation in a peace conference.

In transmitting the proposals of the central powers the United States probably would follow the practice which has been invariable so far in acting as the medium of communication between the hostile governments and would not make them public. The terms would, of course, be known to President Wilson and Secretary Lansing, who would examine them to determine whether they should be accompanied by any word from the United States. News of the proposals was practically the only topic discussed among members of Congress as they assembled today. There was no doubt that the matter would be discussed at the regular cabinet meeting scheduled for this afternoon. The foreign embassies and legations received their first information of the event through the Associated Press.

On every hand the conversation turned on the matter of the peace proposals. Some of the divisions from Rumania and transferring them to other fronts, with the Rumanian situation more favorable to the entente. Berlin reports fighting in the Carpathians along the western front and in Moldavia, and the capture of Mizil near Polechti.

Rumanians Are Still Retreating—Germany Claims Justification for Deportation of Belgians Because They Need Assistance—Believed Great French Battleship Was Lost With All on Board—King Constantine of Greece in Bad Health.

London, Dec. 8.—The German war office today reports the capture of eight thousand more Russians, who were trapped in Western Wallachia. The Rumanians seemingly are still on the retreat northeastward, rapidly leaving Southern Wallachia. Von Mackensen says a stand by the retreating forces is not expected until the Buzu river is reached.

Fighting is taking place between Bulgarians and Serbians near Monastir and between the French and Germans in the Verdun region.

Justifies Belgian Deportations.

Berlin, Dec. 8.—The German government today issued a statement justifying the transfer of Belgian laborers to Germany. It says the measure is a social necessity and not a hardship for the laborers, a half million of whom are idle because the British embargo has destroyed Belgium's overseas trade.

In all, the statement says, 1,500,000 persons, one-fifth of the total Belgian population, require assistance, including 293,000 wives and 612,000 children of the men who are without work.

Believed Battleship Lost.

Paris, Dec. 8.—It is believed the battleship Suffren, which sailed November 24th and has not been heard from since, is lost with all on board. The Suffren sailed from L'Orient, the French naval station in Brittany. She displaced 12,700 tons and her normal crew was 730 men.

Evening News Protests.

London, Dec. 8.—The Evening News, a strong supporter of Lloyd-George, today protests strongly against the suggestion that A. J. Balfour be appointed foreign secretary and that Lord Robert Cecil be retained as under secretary for foreign affairs. It refers to Lord Cecil's foreign office record, in the weakening of the blockade, as "disastrous."

Asquith Offered Earldom.

London, Dec. 8.—According to the Chronicle, King George yesterday wrote to former Premier Asquith, offering him an earldom and the Order of the Garter. It is understood Asquith asked permission to decline both honors.

Will Delay Irish Question.

London, Dec. 8.—The Manchester Guardian says it is not unlikely that Premier Lloyd-George will attempt an immediate solution of the Irish question by means of an imperial conference.

Airplanes Raided Trieste.

Rome, Dec. 8.—Two Italian seaplanes raided Trieste yesterday, an unofficial statement says today, and returned unharmed, although subjected to heavy Austrian bombardment.

Greek King III.

Paris, Dec. 8.—The health of King Constantine of Greece is again causing anxiety, according to news from German sources. The old wound in the king's side continues to open and he is very weak, it is said.

Would Buy Greece.

London, Dec. 8.—Germany and Austria have offered to aid Greece in opening land communications if she declares war on the entente allies, a Switzerland dispatch says.

Berlin, Dec. 8.—An Italian airplane was brought down by Lieutenant Bantfield, the noted Austrian aviator, in an engagement over Carson plateau, December 3rd.

CHRISTMAS CHEER TO BE DISPENSED

Meeting Held at First Baptist Church Last Night and the Initial Steps Taken.

Under the auspices of the Pastors' Association of Bryan a meeting was held last night at the First Baptist church for the purpose of inaugurating a movement to relieve the needs of the poor of Bryan at the Christmas season. Rev. J. C. Welch presided at the meeting and Rev. J. C. Story acted as secretary. A general discussion of the subject was had, but no definite plans outlined. Mrs. M. B. Parker was selected to have charge of the women's department of the work.

It is the purpose of those in charge of the movement to thoroughly organize the entire city for the two-fold purpose of raising ample funds to provide for the needs of the unfortunate and also to secure a complete list of all who need assistance. Further announcements will be made later. In the meantime, all societies, lodges, organizations and individuals who wish to aid in this worthy movement should settle the matters so as to be ready to act when the committee calls, or, better still, notify the committee in advance.

GERMANY OFFERS TO MAKE AMENDS

Ship Was in No Sense a Transport and was Entitled to Immunities of Peaceful Merchantman.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Dec. 8.—The British ship Marina which was sunk by a German submarine with a loss of six American lives was in no sense a transport and was entitled to immunities of a peaceful merchantman.

According to official information received by the State Department, Germany will, however, make amends. A new note to Germany on the general submarine situation, as the result of the latest undersea activities, seems possible. It will be expected to clear up differences of interpretation as to Germany's pledges in the Sussex case.

THE DAWN OF PEACE.

It is to be doubted if in all the history of the world a message was ever flashed on the wings of lightning or by the slower methods of communication, of greater import, or that was hailed with more universal joy and thanksgiving, than the peace messages that were flashed around the world today. The whole civilized world is sick of soul and weary at heart because of the great war, the tragedy of the age, that has desolated Europe and carried its messages of sorrow, its blighting shadow into every civilized land under the shining sun. Now that there is a rift in the clouds, that the dawning of peace can be seen in the distance, the whole world rejoices. Let us hope the end is near. Let us pray the time is near when "the swords shall be beaten into ploughshares, and the spears into pruning hooks."

STATUS OF GREAT WAR.

The great war in Europe has been going on so long, covers such vast territory, so many countries are involved, the fighting forces are of such staggering numbers, the expenses so great, the losses so heavy, the lay mind becomes bewildered and the people have lost the comprehensive view of the situation. Following is a comprehensive view of the war status as it stands today:

The fighting front, reckoning the battle alignment in all the theaters of war, extends in length for about 2,500 miles, or more than two-thirds the distance from Liverpool to New York. Fighting is continuous and violent on about a sixth of this 2,500-mile front.

The Rumanian western front is nearly 700 miles long, or 160 miles longer than the front on which the French, British and Belgian armies are fighting.

The density of troops in the various theaters of war ranges from 6,000 to 2,000 men per mile. The densest concentration in any war theater is on the Somme. On the Somme front alone the Germans have 2,000 guns. The life of a big gun is very short. After firing 200 shells it must be sent away for repairs, says the Continental Mail. This gives a good idea of the wastage.

The Italians are holding up between 600,000 and 800,000 Austrian troops, including some of the finest units in the Austrian army. The North Italian troops have long been known as among the best fighting troops in the world.

There are two Russian armies—the army that is equipped and the army that is being equipped. In size there is little to choose between them.

Britain is fighting in five theaters of war—in France, in the Egyptian desert, in Mesopotamia, the Balkans and Africa.

The Portuguese have already entered the war, for Portuguese troops are fighting against the Germans in East Africa and fighting very well. In the Peninsular war our generals formed a great opinion of the military virtues of Portuguese soldiers.

The Serbs, whom the Bulgars thought they had exterminated, are fighting in two distinct zones—in Macedonia and in the Dobrudja.

The allied army in the Balkans is the most mixed multitude ever deputed to achieve the objects of a campaign of such importance. Though it already includes British, French, Moroccans, Italians, Serbs, Albanians and Greeks, it is possible that we have not yet seen the limits of this assortment.

Armored cars are being used on all the allied fronts. They are maneuvered by either Belgian or British units.

The Italian army in the Trentino is only about a hundred miles from Germany, which may be said to be threatened from four different directions—from France, from Belgium, from Russia and from Italy.

The Russians have three distinct fleets, one in the Arctic ocean, one in the Baltic and one in the Black Sea. They have also warships in the Mediterranean.

TOO MANY CONGRESSMEN.

Champ Clark says the number should be cut down to 300 and kept there.

It would mean a vast saving to the taxpayers of the community and as the Eagle has devoted considerable space recently to retrenchment in governmental expenditures, we quote with pleasure the following utterance from the Houston Post on Speaker Clark's statement:

"Champ Clark made no idle suggestion the other day when he said that the membership of the House of Representatives ought to be reduced to 300 and kept at that figure.

"The Sixty-sixth Congress, to be chosen in 1918, will make a new apportionment based upon the 1920 census, and at that time the reduction ought to be made.

"It would be justifiable to reduce the membership of the House as a matter of economy, if there were not other good reasons for doing so. The saving in the matter of salaries, clerk hire, mileage, free seeds, stationery and the abuse of the franking privilege would be considerable, but it would mean other economies as well.

"It is well known that each member must have appropriations for his district—appropriations that have little value so far as the public is concerned, but are useful in a political sense to the members in whose districts the money is expended. The sum of $100,000 per annum unnecessarily appropriated is a small average per representative. That saving, together with other items, might reduce expenses by at least twenty million dollars a year—a sum not too trivial to save in times like the present.

"But apart from economical considerations, the reduction of the membership of the House to 300 would greatly increase the legislative efficiency of the body. At present the House is rather a mob because of its bulk. There are too many cooks brewing the legislative broth.

"A smaller body would impart a greater degree of intelligence and care to the legislation of Congress, and it would facilitate the work of Congress as well. Moreover, it would materially modify the conditions which make the work of the House legislation by committees instead of work by the Congress.

"There are not only too many members, but too many committees. Committees have steadily increased in number as the membership of the House has increased, because it is necessary, it appears, to have a sufficiency of committees to supply places for the ambitious statesmen who yearn to prolong their tenure of office.

The plethora of committees and needless number of members mean too many bills, too much worthless legislation, too many laws and too much interference by the federal government with the powers of the states and the ordinary processes of human activity.

"We are getting a topheavy government at Washington as a result of too many agencies of government. Too much government means too much expense, too much innovation, too much officiousness and, in the finality, too much corruption.

"There would be a wonderful amount of good to flow from the reduction of the number of congressmen.

"Of course, it might stagger civilization and cause the pillars of freedom to totter to shove 135 congressmen and their horde of useless hangers-on out of their warm places, but in the end the people would be benefited."

Mr. Ed F. Blackshear was brought home from Houston last night, having suffered intensely for two days from an attack of lumbago in its most acute form. The trouble may have been superinduced by the auto accident, but the result from the accident itself was practically nothing. Mr. Blackshear hopes to be about again in a day or two.—Navasota Examiner.

Editor Blackshear's many friends among the newspaper boys will regret to learn of his illness and all indulge the hope Richard will soon be himself again.

ANNUAL PERJURY.

Every year she says, sez she, "You must solemnly agree Not to buy a thing for me! Gifts mean nothing in my eyes—It's the spirit that I prize—And we must economize." So we solenly concur, And we earnestly agree—Not a thing from me to her, Not a thing from her to me. Every year I say, sez I, Gazing gracely, eye to eye, "Give me nothing you must buy. You'll admit it's very true, It's a foolish thing to do, Swapping presents—me and you!" So each year we gravely swear, Though we're thoroughly aware Each will spend a little more On the other, than before.

—Burges Johnson, in Life.

Before the close of 1917 the hum and whirr of the spindles of a large, thoroughly organized and firmly established cotton mill should be heard in Bryan. Why not manufacture our cotton here right in the fields and not ship it to England? There is too much loss in freight going and coming.

The high prices of farm products have given our farmers great prosperity this year and in consequence the Eagle hears of many substantial improvements being made in different parts of the county. New homes are being erected, some are being repaired, some enlarged, some repainted, a new chimney here, a new barn there, and so it goes all over the county. The news of this improvement is certainly welcome to all. The prosperity of all depends on the prosperity of the farm and the fact that the farmers are improving their surroundings and adding to their comforts and conveniences, is cause for general rejoicing. The country has grown out of the idea that the farmer is entitled only to have a bare living. All are agreed that he should have as much and as good as anybody, and the efforts of state and nation are now being exerted to improve rural conditions in every way possible. It is well.

A call is soon to be issued for a meeting of the Texas Progressive party at Dallas to arrange for the meeting of the party in St. Louis in January. The St. Louis meeting is for the rehabilitation of the Progressive party throughout the United States. As the Progressives have been the entering wedge by which the Democrats landed their man in the White House twice "hand goin'" they will not doubt hail the news of the St. Louis meeting with joy.

Secretary Wilson of the Department of Labor, in his report recommends that a new office be created. The expansion and welfare of the service demands it. It is always easy to show that a great urgency exists when it is proposed to prepare warm places for political friends and "lame ducks." If this old ship of state ever sinks, it will be from trying to sail with too heavy a crew of officeholders. They've got her far below the water line now.

Carranza's reply to the protocol adopted by the American-Mexican commission for his approval, is on the way to Washington. It is stated he has not yet signed the protocol, but approves it in the main and is only asking for slight changes in the phraseology. If the changes are agreed to by the American commissioners arrangements for his signature will be authorized by wire. News of his practical acceptance of the protocol is encouraging and relieves what otherwise would have been very strained relations between the two governments had he rejected it in toto. The approval of the protocol means the withdrawal of General Pershing's punitive expedition, and with the American troops out of Mexico, a very great cause of irritation will be removed.

The Deutschland has again poked her nose out of the water in a German port. Two round trips to America, escaping the sleepless eyes of the British navy, is no small accomplishment. For the second time our hat comes off to plucky Captain Koenig.

The man, woman, boy or girl who gets the most joy out of the coming Christmas season is the one who does most for others.

satisfactorily.—Austin American.

If the exorbitant prices charged for eggs in the city went to the farmers who produced the eggs, it would be a different matter altogether. The farmers would spend the money with the local merchants and it would bring up the channels. As it is, the money goes to the cold storage trusts who bought the eggs at 15 and 20 cents a dozen.

In discussing the bitter pinch which is distressing the poor of the cities, Governor Ferguson says let them go to the country and become a part of the great army of producers themselves. That is easier said than done.

They have no farms to go to, they have no farming equipment, no teams, no feed and no money to live on until they could make a crop. The poorer classes of the cities working for small wages are up against the real thing and are entitled to every consideration that can be shown them by the more fortunate. To be sure it is well for them to go to the farms whenever and wherever it is made possible for them to do so.

Forty and forty-five cent butter on biscuits that cost a nickel a piece, will have to be made mighty thin at both ends.

FORMER SHERIFF ENDORSES TANLAC

Prominent Houston Man Says "Money Could Not Buy the Good It Has Done Me."

"Money could not buy the good Tanlac has done me, and I gladly recommend it for what it has done in my case," said Hon. Archie R. Anderson of Houston, ex-sheriff of Harris county, a few days ago.

Mr. Anderson needs no introduction to the people of Texas, as he is unquestionably not only one of the best known, but one of the most popular men that ever held public office in "The Lone Star" State. After serving as deputy sheriff of Harris county for 12 years, Mr. Anderson was elected chief of police of the city of Houston. He had occupied this office only a short time when the sheriff of Harris county died. Mr. Anderson's friends persuaded him to make the race for unexpired term of sheriff, to which he was easily elected. He was honored with re-election seven different times and served the people in this important office for 15 consecutive years. Four years ago Mr. Anderson declined re-election and retired to private life. He cast his lot among the people of Houston and is a large property owner and foremost citizen of this interesting and prosperous city.

"I was in a run-down condition," continued Mr. Anderson, "and had no appetite at all. I could hardly sleep at night and never felt like getting up in the mornings. I was so tired. I had the worst form of indigestion, suffered all the time from gas on my stomach and was continually belching up undigested food. I had to take my coffee without sugar, as when I drank it with sugar I would just belch for hours. I would bloat and swell up like I was poisoned and suffered with neuralgic pains of the worst sort and nothing seemed to help me only in a temporary way. I just can't tell you how I did suffer for the past four years and up to the time I began taking Tanlac a few weeks ago.

"When I read the testimonials of some who had been relieved of troubles like mine I just felt like I couldn't make a mistake by taking Tanlac, and it has done even more for me than I had expected. I began to feel better after taking my first bottle and have just now started on my third and I'm a different man already. I sleep like a log now and eat just any and everything I want without the slightest discomfort afterwards. I am glad to endorse Tanlac because it does the work and I'm telling all my friends just what I'm telling you. I never felt better in my life than I do since taking Tanlac. I am willing for you to publish my statement and let every suffering person who may wish benefit by my experience with this great medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Bryan by Read & Stewart.

President of A. and M. Has Published His Third Book.

"The Social Teachings of the Jewish Prophets" is the title of a book just off the press by Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of A. and M. College. The book presents an everyday interpretation and application of the teachings of the great Jewish prophets to the everyday social life.

The viewpoint represents a departure from the traditional treatment of Bible themes.

It is intended to serve the requirements of Bible study classes, ministers and laymen who seek to know the real contribution of the Jewish prophets to the social ideals of their own times and to the age in which we live.

This is Dr. Bizzell's third book, the other two dealing with social and political problems.

The United States, by reason of its dual responsibility of representing the interests of most of the central powers and the entente governments in the capitals of their enemies, would of course become the medium of communication through which any reply of the entente government to the central belligerents would be made. Many officials feel, therefore, that an indication of the temper of the entente governments should be available before the influence of the United States was thrown into the balance.

The German embassy had no further advices today on the terms of peace proposals. It was freely admitted that the terms had been purposely omitted from the chancellor's speech and the note, because the sole purpose was to propose a conference on terms of peace, carefully avoiding any reference which might be made a basis of refusal.

PROCEEDS CAUTIOUSLY IN PEACE MOVEMENT

Representing so Many Countries, Both Allies and Teutons, in Foreign Capitals, the United States Would Be the Natural Medium of Communication—Before Making any Suggestions, Washington Would Like to Know Temper of the Allies—Would do Nothing to Destroy Usefulness as Future Mediator.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—President Wilson's course of action regarding Germany's peace proposals remained undecided today while he waited for the official notification. It is believed, however, that while he will avoid any action that might hinder future usefulness as an intermediary, he will convey the delicate intimation that the United States desires some form of discussion.

The President was closeted with Colonel House today and cancelled all outside engagements.

PHYSICAL VALUES OF A. & M. COLLEGE TO ELECT MESSAGER TO WASHINGTON

Report of Auditors Show Detailed Values of All Departments Total More Than $2,000,000.

An investment of more than two million dollars is represented in the buildings, grounds and equipment of A. and M. College, according to the report of the Commercial Auditing Company of Dallas, auditors for the board of directors. The statement of the company, made public today, shows an investment of $1,287,722.57 in buildings; $161,856.03 in lands and fences, (2,416 acres of land); $38,292.10 in live stock in the animal husbandry, dairy husbandry and farm divisions; $334,295.72 in other equipment, and $209,000 in interest bearing bonds, making a total investment of $2,031,167.41. This sum does not include the experiment station lands, buildings and equipment, nor does it include the permanent improvements to be made under the appropriations for the fiscal year 1916-17. A $100,000 auditorium, $100,000 veterinary science building, a number of hothouses to be erected soon are not figured in the physical property valuation.

"We were much pleased with the general manner in which all departments are conducted," read the report. "No complaints or criticisms were heard from any employee or student. The institution is well controlled and well guided and speaks much for the president and administrative officers. Harmony seems to be the prevalent note."

No indebtedness was carried over from the last fiscal year and at present there is a cash surplus of $116,498.14 available. All purchases are made through the business manager's office through a requisition system, every purchase being approved by the president and by the business manager.

In addition to the regular work of keeping the business affairs of the college straight, the business manager's office maintains a public utilities department, a private banking system for cadets and a tariff department for checking freight rates on goods bought. Lights, water and other utilities are afforded the campus residents and charges for this service are made and collected by the fiscal department. Last year $106,912.15 was collected for various utilities. The cashier handled 5,000 deposits, $30,000 checks and $180,000 for the cadets. Freight shipments run into the thousands of dollars monthly and these are all carefully checked by the traffic department of the fiscal office. Five men are employed in the business manager's office.

The auditor's report pays a high compliment to the "business end" of the college, and says that the department "could not handle the immense volume of business that it does take care of unless its present systematic methods were employed."

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK

Acts Like Dynamite on a Sluggish Liver and You Lose a Day's Work.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when 50c buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and cannot salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.

It is understood the demands on Greece may require the demobilizations of the army, restoration of the control by the ententes of posts, telegraphs and railways and the release of all imprisoned Venizelists.

PRIVATE MONOPOLY AND HIGH PRICES

High Living Cost Charged Up to Monopoly of Railroads, Lands, Marketing, Etc.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 8.—Private monopoly of the land and the railroads and of transportation, marketing, warehouse, slaughtering and cold storage facilities, is responsible for the high cost of living, said Frederick C. Howe, commissioner of immigration of the port of New York, in an address before the National Conference on Marketing and Farm Credits. Mr. Howe's subject was "The People and the Land: The Problem That Confronts Us." Declaring that the high cost of living has become a problem to the people of America as well as to the warring nations of Europe and that the solution hinges on the relation of the people to the land, he said in part:

"The immigration problem is connected with the land and is the biggest thing to be solved before the people because all wealth comes from the land. As long as there was land in abundance, under the homestead act, there was no serious immigration problem, but now that the land is all owned, the immigration situation has returned and now there is an industrial problem also. The government must turn to the land question, to agriculture, to insuring just treatment for farmer and consumer alike.

"Some means must be found for opening the land to those who wish to produce wealth on it. There are only thirty persons to the square mile in the United States and a billion could live in America comfortably if the boundless resources of the continent were opened. The first step in constructive immigration is that adopted in Western Canada in encouraging farm improvements, houses and growing crops by placing taxes on the land alone. This would break up the colossal estates into which many Western states are divided. More than 200 million of the 800 million acres ready for cultivation in the United States are owned to the cities as has been the case in the

"Unless a big, constructive program is worked out," he said, "I expect to see agriculture become less profitable and employ fewer people. Farmers and their sons will be driven by less than fifty thousand persons. Millions of people could be furnished homes and profitable employment if the hand of speculation and monopoly were removed.

"I believe the government should provide ready made farms to people of small means. This is the policy Denmark has adopted and 90 per cent of her farmers own their farms. The government there supplies all but 10 per cent of the capital and this the farmers furnish.

"Transportation should be a public service and the government should own and control it in order to distribute immigrants and others to the land. Such service should not be a private profit. Marketing is now uncertain and the farmer is so despoiled by monopoly charges that he becomes discouraged and often bankrupt."

In closing Mr. Howe said the problem of distribution was to get people back to the land upon bearable conditions.

"Unless a big, constructive program is worked out," he said, "I expect to see agriculture become less profitable and employ fewer people. Farmers and their sons will be driven

England. I expect to see the cost of takes to get the people back to the living rise till the government under-

AMERICA'S MOST PRESSING PROBLEM

Standardizing Warehouses and Marketing as to Serve Farmer and Consumer Alike.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 8.—America's most pressing problem is that of "so standardizing, warehousing and marketing our crops as to serve the legitimate interests of farmer and consumer alike," according to Carl S. Vrooman, assistant secretary of agriculture, who spoke here last night at a dinner incident to the fourth annual National Conference on Marketing and Farm Credits. Mr. Vrooman continued:

"Among the factors that stand out in the problem are rural credits, a satisfactory system of land tenure and facilities for marketing farm produce. These are subjects on which the federal government must do a lot of constructive work before the problems involved are satisfactorily solved. It is a herculean task, but filled with promise for the entire nation.

"From the first the department and the state agricultural colleges have helped the farmer in his fight against the chinch bug, the army worm, the boll weevil, the cattle ticks and other insect pests, but for half a century there has been voiced a vehement protest from practically every farm organization in the country over the failure of either state or federal government to help the farmer in his fight against the usurer, the fake middleman and other human pests.

"At last the farmer is being met half way. More economic federal legislation has been passed in the past four years than during the forty years preceding. The office of markets has been created, a rural credits bill has been passed, a bonded warehouse bill, a good roads bill, a grain standardization act and other invaluable legislation has been enacted. These laws are of revolutionary importance. They are the beginning of a new and more splendid epoch in American agriculture."

MANY BARNS BURNED.

Officers Looking for Firebug Working Near Navasota.

Navasota, Texas, Dec. 12.—The large barn owned by Moore Brothers, just west of the city, burned to the ground Sunday night with all of its contents, consisting of feed, corn, harness and farm tools. The loss is very heavy, with practically no insurance. This is the third large barn to burn within a few miles of Navasota within a short time. The first one belonged to Tom Barry, just south of the city, with no insurance at all. Friday night the large barn of John D. Rogers on his Allen farm burned. Only a few days ago the barn on M. B. Parker's place, a few miles north of here, in Burleson county, was burned. The officers have become satisfied there is a firebug at work and they are making every effort to catch him.

BORED SAFE IN STATE CAPITOL

Banking Commissioner C. O. Austin Found Hole Bored in Vault in His Office.

Austin, Texas, Dec. 12.—Charles O. Austin, commissioner of insurance and banking, is thoroughly convinced that the safe blowing epidemic is atmospheric and subject to spread. Recently several banks have been robbed, state and national banks, and Mr. Austin was awakened at 2 a. m. Sunday with a long distance call detailing the robbery of the Columbia State Bank of $6,000. He had little sleep the remainder of the night and when he arrived at his office the next morning he sure "went in the air," for he found the vault on the banking side with a hole drilled in the door and the vault wide open.

But it was no robbery. A clerk had reached the office early Sunday morning to do some extra work and sought to get some of the banking records in the vault. The combination could not be worked and he sent for a local locksmith, who said the lock was defective. The clerk told the locksmith to open the vault and he promptly drilled a hole at the proper place and soon threw the bolts back and opened the door. The lock has been repaired, a new combination put in and all traces of the hole obliterated.

COL. OUSLEY SPEAKS IN OKLAHOMA CITY

Preaches the Doctrine of Diversification, Emphasizing the Opportunity of Southern Farmers.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Dec. 12.—To speak of 20-cent cotton or $1.75 wheat in terms of dollars unless at the same time the money value of other things is considered is not sufficient, Clarence Ousley, director of the extension department of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College, told the convention of the Oklahoma State Bankers' Association here today.

"As a matter of fact 20-cent cotton has no more power in the purchase of other commodities than 12-cent cotton had a year and a half ago," said Mr. Ousley in discussing "Safe Farming as Basis of Safe Banking." He went on: "The price tag does not indicate value by any means, but value is to be reckoned by the relation of a given commodity to other commodities. The farmer who raises cotton or who raises wheat exclusively or principally must buy all the other things needed for the maintenance of his family and the operation of his farms. If these simple rules are applied in making farm plans for 1917, it will appear beyond a shadow of doubt that the farmer who derives his entire income from cotton will be no better off than he was when cotton was worth only half or even only a third of its present money value."

"All the world facts and figures now prevailing and likely to prevail for another year indicate overwhelmingly that food and feed prices will remain high, unless the nation resorts to some such tyranny as an embargo on export of foodstuffs. While the cotton supply for the current year is short of the demand, it is easily possible with a 10 per cent increase of acreage and with normal weather conditions to produce more than 16 million bales of cotton, which will be in excess of the world's demand for a year and will force prices downward accordingly. Not only that, but there is already evidence that high prices are curtailing consumption. British exports of yarn and cloth are 10 to 20 per cent less than they were for the corresponding period for 1913."

"Banking credit based upon all-cotton farming is a hazardous risk, but banking credit based upon food and feed farming is a safe risk. There is certain to be, at the close of the European war a reaction which will bring more or less distress to manufacturing industries and to commerce in general. The producing sections of the South and West have it in their power, by the exercise of the simplest business prudence, to escape the injury of that reaction and to insure a long period of remunerative prices for farm products. No single factor is so potential to this end as the country bank. It is hardly too much to say that, under these circumstances, the attitude of the bankers of the South will determine whether we are to make permanent our present agricultural prosperity, or whether we are to relapse into the slavery of cotton which has kept us in bondage for fifty years. The banker's responsibility is great, but his opportunity is glorious."

BIG GAME IN PICTURES.

University-A. and M. Thanksgiving Contest Being Repeated.

The actions of both teams are pictured at the time of each touchdown, and the famous longhorn steer, Bevo, which was presented to the students by the alumni of the university, is shown in action.

BANK ROBBED AT COLUMBIA

Secured $6,000 and Fired at Cashier. Surprised W. E. Ogborn in the Bank Alone.

Columbit, Texas, Dec. 11.—When a lone robber secured $6,000 Saturday night about 10:30 o'clock when he held up the Columbia State Bank cashier, W. E. Ogborn, he overlooked between $2,000 and $3,000 that was lying in the safe from which he secured the $6,000.

Mr. Ogborn was in the bank working on his books with the bank safe standing open. The robber made his appearance suddenly and commanded Mr. Ogborn to hold up his hands. Covering the cashier, the intruder backed to the open safe and secured $1,000 in silver dollars and $5,000 in currency.

As the robber was leaving the building Mr. Ogborn fired two shots at the man and the robber fired once at him. All of the shots went wild. The robber wore dark clothing, was about 5 feet 8 inches in height, wore a cap pulled down over his eyes and his coat collar was turned up.

All officers in this section of the state were notified.
